

Deer Antler Velvet – Products and Benefits

Deer velvet is the name given to deer antlers during their rapid growth phase. It is unique, being the only mammalian tissue which re-generates completely each year.

Deer Velvet has been used in medicine for over 2000 years. New Zealand Antler Velvet can provide a natural, holistic treatment for acute and chronic inflammations including joints, skin and other body tissues by modulating and balancing the immune system. These Deer Antler Velvet products, particularly when combined with green lipped mussel, thymus and colostrums can provide various health benefits.

Deer Velvet naturally contain amino acids, Hyaluronic acid, minerals, Glycosaminoglycans, Chondroitin sulfate, collagen, essential fatty acids and growth factors.
